

FDJ Gaming Solutions provides its Interactive Factory to Loterie Suisse Romande

Boulogne-Billancourt (France), October 14th, 2022 - Loterie Romande selected FDJ Gaming Solutions to port all their interactive games and provide exclusive iLottery content through their Interactive Factory platform.

Interactive Factory is an open platform, which delivers content as a service, support multiple lottery game logics, and is already used among others by LEIA, the Lotteries entertainment and innovation alliance created by Norsk Tipping, Svenska Spel, Danske Spil, Veikkaus and FDJ.

Jean-Luc Moner-Banet, CEO of Loterie Suisse Romande said: 'We have selected FDJ Gaming Solutions for their unique capacity to port our large game portfolio in a short period of time and to get exclusive content to support the growth of our online business. We are excited that we are joining a growing number of lotteries sharing the goal to foster open innovation, strengthen market position and boost digital growth in their domestic market.'

Xavier Etienne, Executive Vice-President of FDJ outlined: 'Our clients benefit from an attractive marketplace delivering competitive and high-quality portfolios of games and a unique ecosystem driving innovation. Interactive Factory is the perfect place for lotteries to pool stakes and boost progressive jackpots or develop multi-jurisdictional games. Each time a new lottery connects, the value we deliver to each of our client increases dramatically.'

About Loterie Suisse Romande
